Here's the *most accurate available information about a Southwest Airlines presence in Dublin, Ireland, including what's real vs. common misinformation:

Southwest Airlines – Dublin Presence

Official Status

Southwest Airlines does not maintain an official standalone customer service office or street-level corporate office in Dublin, Ireland similar to what U.S. carriers sometimes have in major cities. Instead:

- Southwest may show a generic Dublin office listing on some third-party sites, but there is no verified official Southwest Airlines consumer walk-in office in Dublin. Real Southwest customer service is handled via their global/contact centers and airport partner arrangements, not a public office address. (www.AirlinesOfficeHub.com)

Airport Presence – Dublin Airport (DUB)

If you're traveling on an itinerary that includes Southwest (for example, connecting through a U.S. hub), here's what to expect:

- Location: Dublin Airport (DUB) — Ireland's main international airport, located north of Dublin city center. (Dublin Airport)
- Dublin Airport has two terminals (Terminal 1 and Terminal 2). Southwest doesn't operate its own branded check-in counter there; instead, passenger services are managed by partner carriers (e.g., United, Aer Lingus) or airport staff when you're connecting to/from U.S. flights. (HackMD)
- Airport Phone (General): +353 1 944 1111 (DUB main switchboard). (Dublin Airport)

 Important: Southwest typically does not run its own check-in counters at Dublin Airport. Passengers book Southwest itineraries that include Dublin through partner airlines or codeshares when flying trans-Atlantic portions of their trip. (HackMD)

Travel & Service Notes (“Office” Misconceptions)

Many online directories list generic “Southwest Airlines Dublin Office” entries with broad services like:

- Ticket bookings, cancellations, refunds
- Flight schedules & baggage rules
- Pet travel & other assistance

...but these are third-party aggregations and not official Southwest addresses — they are misleading if interpreted as an actual physical office you can walk into in Dublin. (www.AirlinesOfficeHub.com)

Instead, Southwest service in Dublin is virtual (phone/website/app) or handled at the airport level through partners/ground staff.
